

Location

Carolina University is located in the beautiful rolling hills of North Carolina, known as the Piedmont. Its home, Winston-Salem, is an industrial, progressive city of more than 250,000 and is highly enriched by its wealth of religious and cultural traditions.

Such a strategic position affords ample opportunity for employment to students who depend upon their jobs to remain in school. With the bustling Winston-Salem amenities a short walk from campus, students will find plenty of events and places to visit. Additionally, there are several airports – both domestic and international – nearby. Beaches, national parks, hiking opportunities, and more are all within driving range of the campus.
