ED 305 - Educational Technology

3 Credit Hours

In this course, students will explore the theoretical foundations of educational technology and practice the implementation of digital teaching resources. This course prepares students to become classroom teachers who provide rich digital learning environments. The importance of digital literacy in teaching K-12 classrooms will be discussed, and students develop digital literacy through application of knowledge and skills.