

EDU 635 - Trends & Issues in Education

3 Credit Hours

This course is an examination of issues, problems, and trends that relate to the broad field of education. Topics of study are dictated by contemporary trends and research, such as debates about assessment and testing, education models, health of students, and analysis of current issues affecting school, family, community, and church relationships.