

PE 207 - Foundations of Health and Physical Education

2 Credit Hours

An introduction to the philosophical, historical, psychological, and evaluative aspects of health and physical education. The basic objectives of this course are to help the student develop a sound philosophy of health and physical activity based on biblical principles, to expose him/her to the origin of physical education and its historical development, and to help the student understand the psychology of body movement and its measurement.