

RES 801 - Research Design I

3 Credit Hours

This course provides an overview into methodologies and practices associated with qualitative, quantitative and mixed-methods research. The student will gain a basic introduction to research with emphasis on research design, the tools of research, and the development of a research proposal.