

PE 312 - Applied Anatomy and Physiology

3 Credit Hours

A course that identifies the parts of the human body, their interactions and functions through a comprehensive study of bones, muscles, organs, systems and tissues. Application is made to the teaching and coaching of students and athletes. Attention is given to the biblical principles of design, care and optimal health of the body and its systems.

Prerequisites

BG 110