

CJ 103 - Current Career Opportunities in Criminal Justice

3 Credit Hours

This course introduces students to the strategies and principles used to engage in career and life planning. Core methodologies include: self-inventory and assessment, decision-making skills, résumé writing, internships and employment tracks, goal setting, interview skills, personal and professional wellness, graduate school preparation, personal finance, domestic and international work environments, planning for life beyond college, and financial management.