

CJ 104 - Criminology: Crime Theory and Criminal Behavior

3 Credit Hours

This course examines theories and explanations of the causes of crime, and the evaluation of the role of social structure in the behavior of individuals. Upon completion of this course, students will apply social science theories and explanations of the causes of crime, and evaluate issues related to theories of crime in a multi-cultural, multi-ethnic, and socially-stratified society.