

RES 900 - Dissertation Oral Defense

1 Credit Hours

Review, presentation, and defense of the dissertation. The course requires a thorough review of the research question and research findings, methods and instruments used, the significant facts produced, and contextual significance of the research in the relevant theological discourse. The student must answer orally all questions raised by the dissertation committee at a specially scheduled session.