

MG 330 - International Business

3 Credit Hours

This course introduces the major components (competitive, cultural, technological) that will typically be encountered in the international business environment and introduces the student to their individual and cumulative effects on organizational and managerial practices. This course also provides both a context and methodology for understanding the increasingly globalized world in which we live and applying business practices that leverage cultural sensitivity and inclusion.