

IS 310 - Introduction to Network Technology

3 Credit Hours

This course introduces students to the structure and components included in networking. Topics include layer architectures, networking protocols, network security, and packet tracing through the network.