

IS 315 - Database Management & Applications

3 Credit Hours

This course explores the fundamentals of databases. Topics include design, use, controls, and implementation. The class focuses on developing technical and business skills necessary to gather required information and improve business processes by using databases.