

MFP 620 - Financial Counseling and Client Communication

3 Credit Hours

This course introduces the importance of counseling and communication skills, which are essential professional competencies shared by successful financial planners. The course will cover effective communication techniques with an emphasis on understanding and applying basic linguistic and non-verbal skills when working with clients.