

BG 110 - Biology I

3 Credit Hours

The first of a two term sequence in essential biology for students interested in a career in the health sciences. The course introduces the student to the scientific method, cell theory, molecules of life, bioenergetics, cell structure and function relationships, cell reproduction, DNA structure and function, patterns of inheritance and biological diversity.