

SO 340 - Research Methods

3 Credit Hours

This course introduces students to the primary methods of collecting and analyzing data in social science research. Students will learn how to ask relevant sociological questions, determine research design appropriate to the question, and operationalize concepts in the context of conducting empirical research.

Prerequisites

GO 101