

MPH 540 - Communications, Media and Public Health

3 Credit Hours

In this investigative research class, topics surrounding media and marketing are explored, including public health-specific communication and social marketing, technical and professional writing and the use of mass media and electronic technology. Additionally, the impact of technology and screen-based media use in children and adolescents will also be explored.

Prerequisites

MPH 501