

IS 340 - Natural Language Processing

3 Credit Hours

This course introduces students to computers and how they can do useful things using human languages. Topics include computational methods, probabilistic methods, parameter estimation and inferences.