

PS 450 - Sensation and Perception

3 Credit Hours

The Sensation and Perception course presents the processes of how environmental stimuli are detected by our senses and translated by our brains into perceptual experiences. This course covers this process for the basic human senses of vision, hearing, olfaction (smell), taste and touch.

Prerequisites

PS 101