

ANA 615 - Introduction to Data Science

3 Credit Hours

Data Science is the study of generalizable extraction of knowledge from data. An array of skill sets is required to be proficient in Data Science. This course provides a broad introduction to the field of Data Science and surveys the complete Data Science process from data wrangling to model building, data visualization, and productivity tools.