

COU 540 - Research & Program Evaluation in Counseling

3 Credit Hours

Integration of ethical and culturally-relevant research in advancing the counseling profession, including how to identify and critique evidence-based mental health research. With guidance from a faculty mentor, students are expected to develop a research proposal or project that they can present at a regional, national, or international conference, or for publication.