

BG 460 - General Physiology w/Lab

4 Credit Hours

This course explores human form & function, focusing on the physiology of the nervous, skeletal, muscular, and digestive systems. Integrated lectures and labs focus on systems for support & locomotion, integration & control, regulation & maintenance, reproduction & development. Labs may include anatomical dissection, analysis of organs & organ systems, physiology experiments and histological investigations.

Prerequisites

BG 210