

RS 403 - Research Design

3 Credit Hours

A course that equips students with the essential skills to conceptualize, plan, and execute meaningful research projects. Through a comprehensive study of research principles, methodologies, and ethical considerations, students will learn how to design research studies that yield valid, reliable, and insightful results across various academic disciplines and fields of inquiry.