

INR 700 - International Organizations

3 Credit Hours

This course provides a study of the foundation, development, and current practices of international organizations – primarily, the United Nations. Students will learn key principles from international legal instruments such as the UN Charter, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the Statue of the International Court of Justice, and other relevant treaties and conventions.