

EL 435 - Satellite Communications

3 Credit Hours

This course explores the intricacies of satellite communication systems, revealing how satellites orbiting Earth facilitate worldwide connectivity for communication, broadcasting, navigation, and more. From understanding satellite orbits to mastering signal modulation techniques, students discover the technologies that power our interconnected world.

Prerequisites

EL 435