

ELE 580 - Artificial Intelligence for Micro-Fabrication

3 Credit Hours

This course explores the convergence of AI algorithms and micro-scale manufacturing processes, where intelligent systems are harnessed to optimize, control, and innovate micro-fabrication techniques. From understanding neural networks to mastering AI-driven process control and quality assurance, students learn how AI is shaping the future of micro-fabrication technology.